

Mimi The Duck

By Courtney

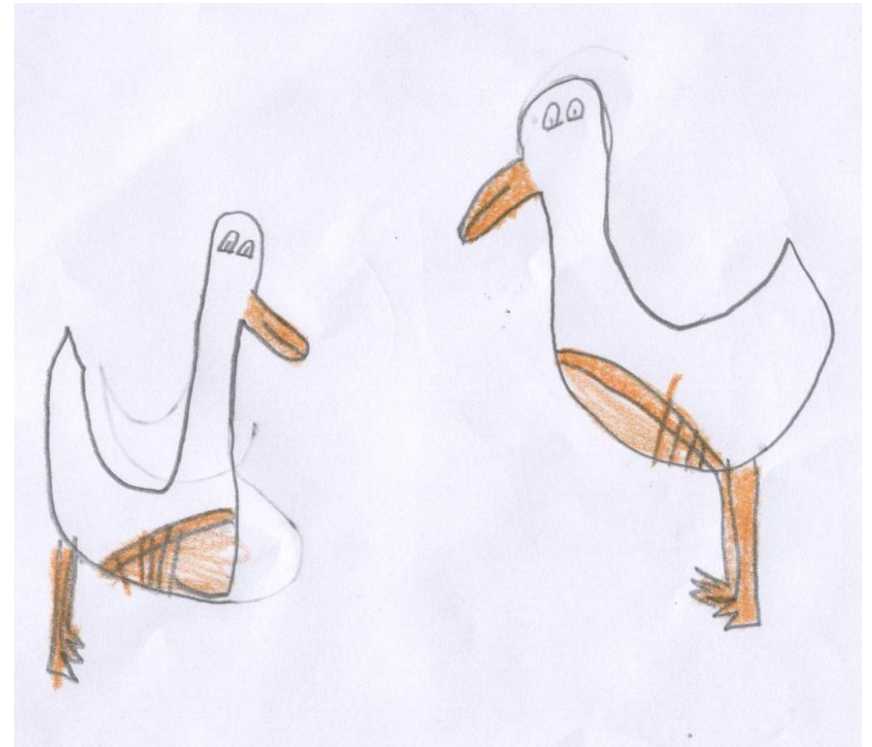

One day a mother duck had a baby. It was named Mimi. When Mimi got older she went on a walk and ran into a mouse. His name was Gregory. Mimi and Gregory became great friends.

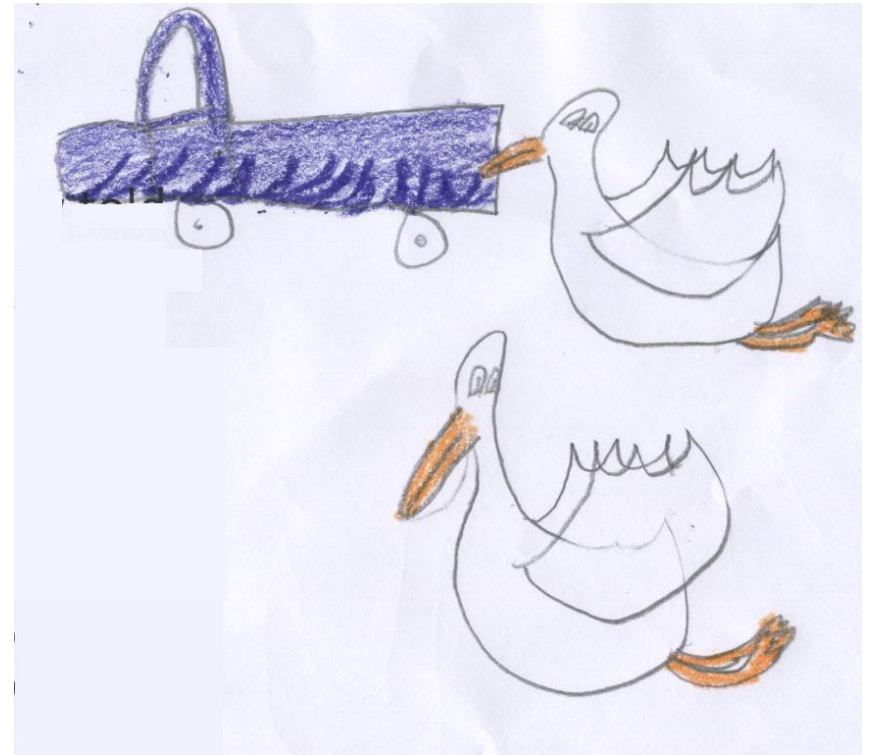

Then one afternoon, Mimi was sold to a new farmer. Her mother and Gregory cried. She now lived a mile away from Gregory.

She started a new life and she met another duck named Parry. Mimi told Parry about her old life. Parry felt bad.

The next day Parry told Mimi that she was going with the farmer to the farmer's market. So she decided to go along with Parry. When they got there, Mimi saw Gregory. The ducks flapped their wings and got loose from the farmer. They hopped into the back of the old farm's pickup truck and hid with Gregory.

Finally, the truck took off and drove back to the old farm. Mimi, Gregory, Parry, Mimi's mother, and Mimi's father lived happily ever after as a new family.
