

The Dragon Who Had No Friends

By Nicolas

Once upon a time, there was a scary looking dragon. No one would play with him.

He flew to ask a black bird to play with him. "No you are mean," said the bird. So the bird flew away.

The dragon flew and saw a monkey in a tree. The dragon tried to ask the monkey. But before he could ask, the monkey went swinging to a different tree.

Then he went home to his cave and he cried and cried. Then a knight came into the cave. The knight said, "What's the matter, aren't you going to eat me?"

The dragon said, "I have no friends." The knight said, "Well you are grumpy scary dragon." The dragon said, "I'm grumpy because I have no friends."

The knight said, "I will be your friend." So they became friends and the dragon gave the knight a ride back to the castle.
