100 million years ago, there lived a dinosaur named stegosaurus. The stegosaurus was the largest of the plated dinosaurs. It had a line of bony plates down its back. It had a very small head and brain. It was about 30 feet long, a little bigger than an elephant. There were four spikes on its tail. The stegosaurus ate plants. It lived in the late part of the Jurassic period. It lived in North America, Europe, Asia, and Africa.
