

Sixth PUPPY

The Sixth Puppy

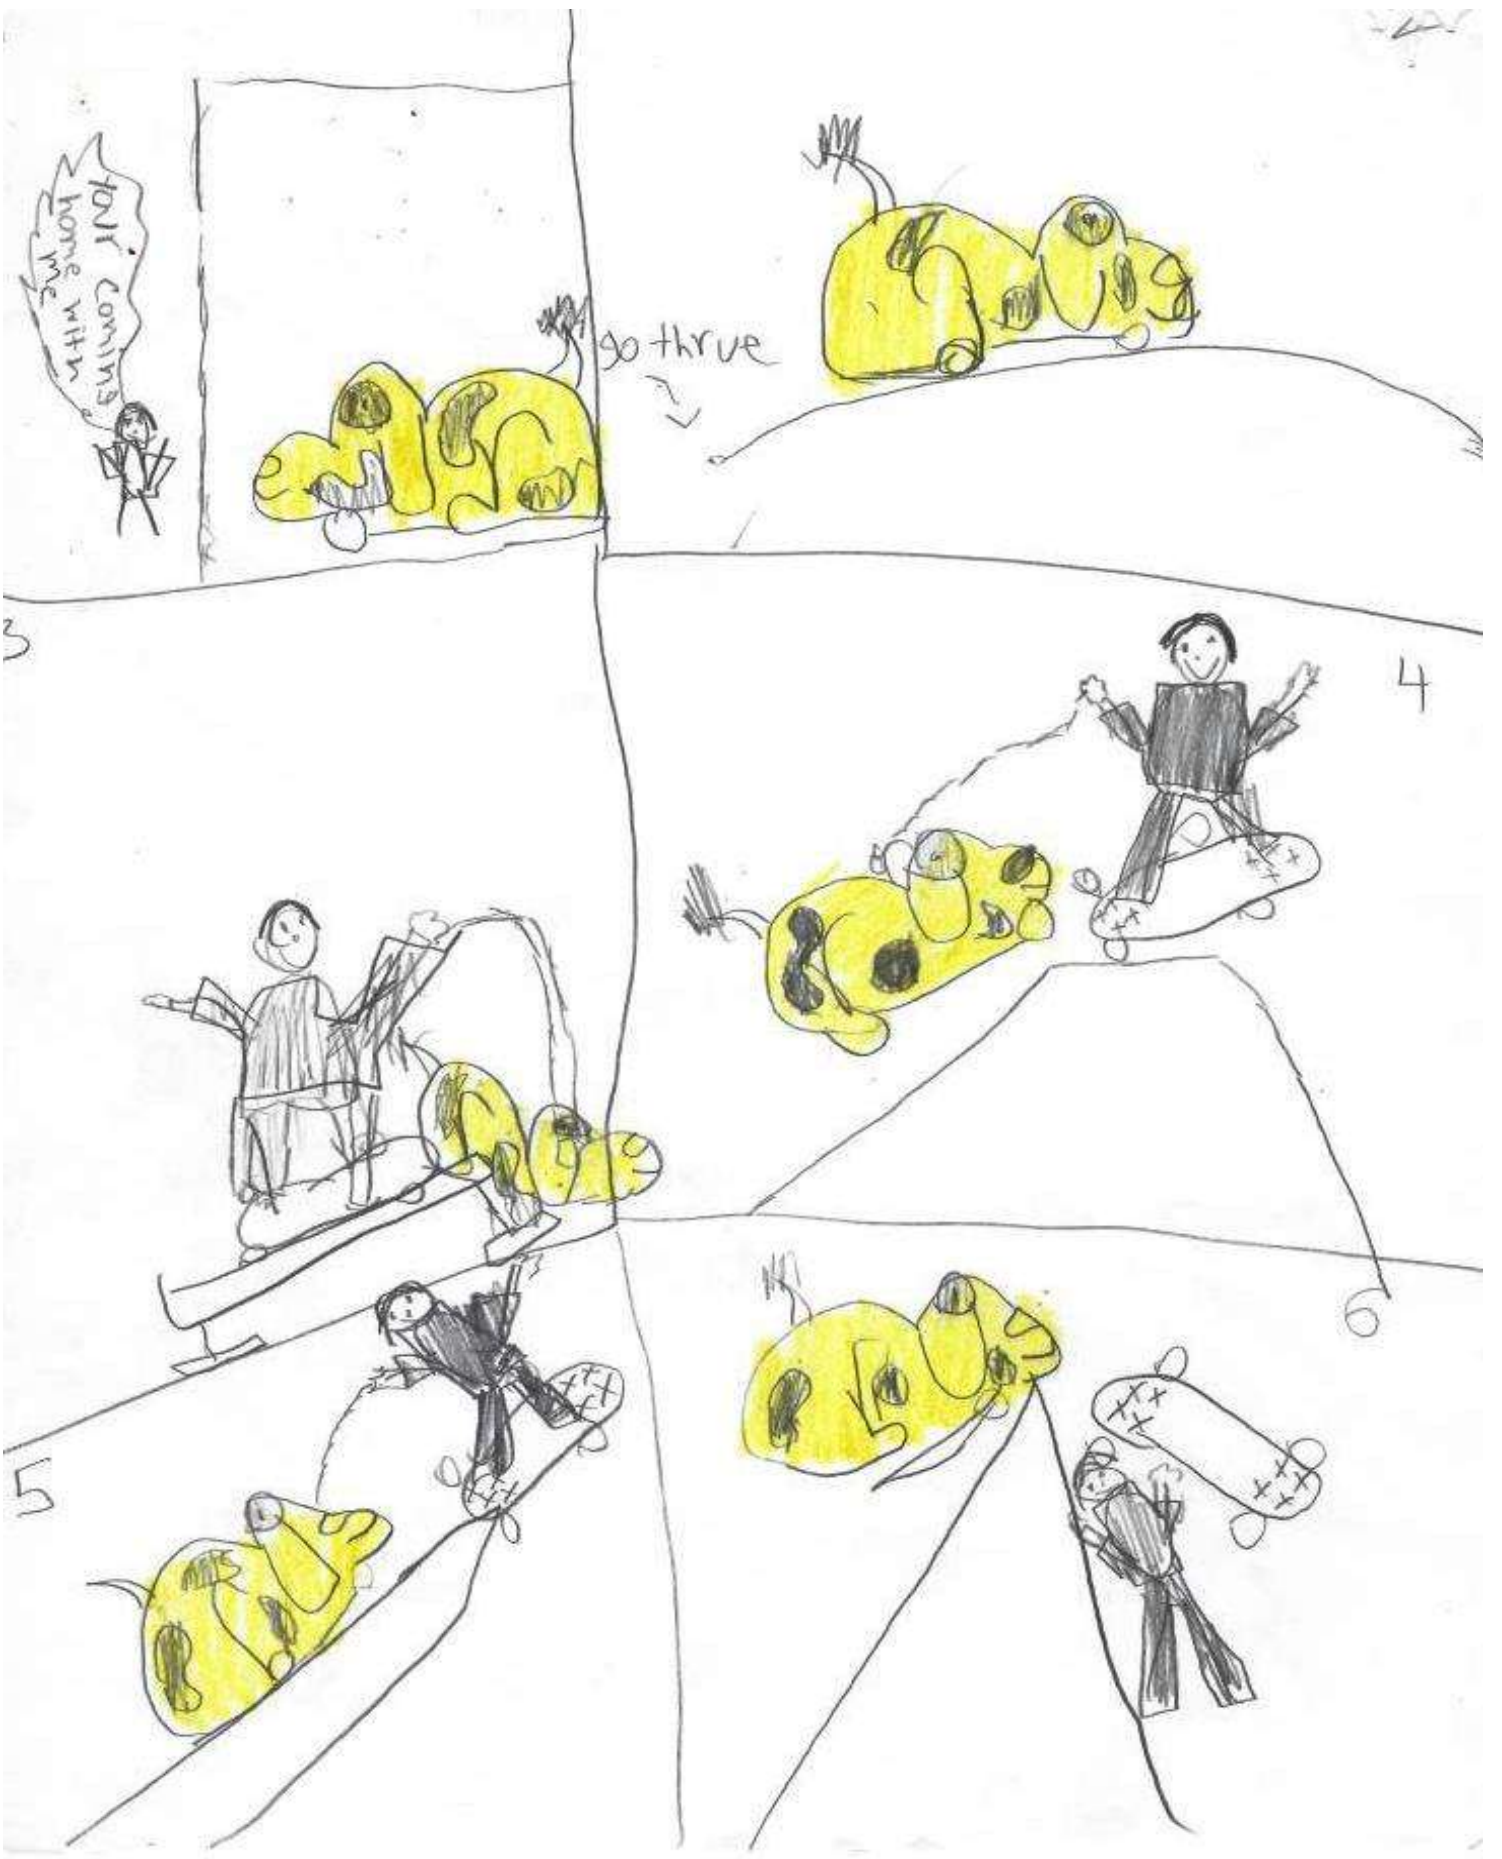

Once outside a store there were free puppies. There were five black puppies and one yellow puppy. Four people took four of the puppies. There were only 2 more puppies left. It was one black one and the yellow one. A kid took the black one and no one took the yellow one.

That night it was raining and the puppy tipped over the box and ran away. The puppy learned to eat out of the garbage. Next year the puppy was fully grown.

One day a vet saw the dog. He caught it and took it to the vet hospital. He cleaned it and took care of it. Somebody wanted a yellow lab for a dog show and that was the only one that was available. So the boy took it.

The boy trained the dog to trust him and do tricks for one month. The dog show was about to begin. So the dog tried, but missed some of the trails.

But he still made it to the finales. When they got to the finales, it was free style. The boy was on his skateboard and the dog pulled him. The boy was grinding and doing tricks in the air. At the last jump he fell. But he still won a trophy for his dog.
