

Chepard

by: Haile G

Chopard

Once upon a time a chicken named Ms. Chicken laid a chepard. I know what you're thinking how can a chicken lay a chepard? Well this is how.

When a leopard named Mr. Leopard met Ms. Chicken they fell madly in love!

Mr. Leopard asked Ms. Chicken to marry him. She said, "Let me think about it".

See she loved him but her father had to say yes. So she went to talk to her father.

Her father said....."No! You may not marry him".

"But father I love him!"

Her father said, "Let me think about it."

Meanwhile at Mr. Leopard's office, he asked, "Hey boss got any work for me?"

"Yeah I do I need you to go to New Jersey on a business trip!"

"Ok." Mr. Leopard went home and started packing for New Jersey when all of a sudden

RRRRRRRIIIIIIIIIIIIIINNNNNNNNNNNNGGGGGGGGGG.

Ms. Chicken was calling.

“Hello,” said Mr. Leopard.

“Hello,” said Mrs. Chicken. “Where are you?”

*“I’m at the airport about to board a plane.
Where are you?”*

“I’m at my dad’s house.”

“Really that’s great! Yeah, well can I call you back? My flight leaves in 15 minutes. I’ll call you back when I’m in New Jersey. I’ll be back in 15 weeks.”

“But my dad said you could marry me and guess what I laid an egg!”

Mr. Leopard gasped, “Really”

“Yeah its due to hatch in 5 days!”

“But I get paid 1,000 dollars if I go on this trip.”

“But don’t you want to be here when our Chicklet is born? Can you call your boss and ask if you can wait 3 weeks so the baby and I can come with you?”

“I’ll call you back. I’ll call my boss. My flight doesn’t leave for 5 minutes.”

Rrrrrrrrríííííííííínnnnnnnnnnnnnnnggggggggggggggggggg

“Hey boss can I wait to go to New Jersey? my fiancé had an egg and it hatches in 5 days.”

“Really that’s great.”

“Yeah it is. But my wife wants me there when it hatches. Can I wait to go to New Jersey?”

“Yeah having an egg hatch is a big deal,” replied his boss.

The next four days went by slow. On the day the egg was supposed to hatch, it didn’t. It hatched a day early. Ms. Chicken was so surprised when it hatched. It was half chicken and half leopard. Nothing had ever been hatched that looked like it. Mrs. Chicken and Mr. Leopard named the chicklet Berry. Berry was a very good baby. She loved her parents so much. She never cried she always ate and she never ever never ever ran away. I guess you could call her a mommy’s girl. She always obeyed her mother and father.

However anywhere they went in public, the other creatures stared at the chepard. They pointed and whispered mean comments.

Ms. Chicken and Mr. Leopard did not care. They finally had their wedding. They had a two week anniversary. But I'm going tttttttttttttttooooooooooooooooooooo far. Two weeks after she was born, they went on the trip to New Jersey. They loved it so much that after the trip they packed up their coop and flew to New Jersey. They still live there to this day!!!

PS. they loved the baby so well they wanted another egg to hatch. They had another one it hatched and it was a baby boy. They let Berry name him. She named him Larry. See my next book the adventures of Berry and Larry.