

Jake's
Crazy
Journey

by Ian

Jake's Crazy Journey

Prologue: I started on the 3rd chapter so I am going to give you some background knowledge. Jake and Jennifer, his sister, were arguing, and then Jake wished her away. The next Jake woke up and she was gone. It seemed to be that she was erased from all Earth. In the afternoon, Jake opened up the fridge and got sucked in. He fell in the ocean, and got knocked out.

Chapter 3

Jake washed up on shore unconscious. He woke up about three hours later with a nasty headache. Jake saw big trees that towered into the sky so high that you could not see the tops. Jake was still wondering where he was because this was nothing like New York. Hoping to find civilization, Jake walked into the forest. When he came in he felt a strange sensation, as if something was moving on his back very slowly. He kept walking for about two hours but he still didn't know where he was. Jake's watch was going crazy ever since he landed in this strange place, so there was no way to tell. He started to lean on a tree to rest and he went to sleep instantly.

He woke up to darkness under the very tall trees. Jake got up to walk but then he tripped over something very large. He looked back to see what he tripped over and it was a big blue book. He picked it up, hoping something wouldn't happen. Nothing happened so he opened it up. It had really bad hand writing and all he could read the dates. This is weird Jake thought 3124 what kind of date is this? We're only in the 21st century. Then something very, very crazy happened.

A crackly voice came out of the book, "Thanks (cough) I thought nobody would find me after my last owner"

"Whoa! Who said that?" Jake said startled.

"Me you dummy! Who else do you think it would be, Babe Ruth," yelled the crackly voice.

"Ok what was that for? I don't even know your name," he shouted back.

"Oh...I'm sorry maybe I forgot to introduce myself. I'm Paper Cut," the book said in a smart alek way.

"How are you talking?"

"A I'm an enchanted book... Duh what else could I be?"

“My crazy imagination in which I can’t get out of?”

“Ha Ha Ha very funny. Now write in me or suffer the pain of sadness!” yelled Paper Cut.

Suffer the pain of sadness? What does that mean? Maybe he will make me give up hope. Oh crud, if I’m right I’m toast. I guess I’m going to have to write in him. Jake thought with a tinge of fear.

Dear PC,

This is my first time writing in a diary so don’t get mad at me if I do something idiotic. No offense, but you did yell at me the first time we met. Just keep it cool and things will go great with us. So somehow when I opened the fridge to get a snack, the fridge sucked me into some kind of portal. Can you tell me anything about that?

“Well... if you want to know why it happened, keep on listening.” PC said mysteriously “So did you wish someone special in your life was never there.”

“Yes” Jake said sadly, “My sister Jennifer.”

“Ow! That hurts. Well that’s the reason you got sucked into that portal. Now all you need to do is three things. Save your sister. Defeat Daffy the Staffy.-

“Wait a second... Daffy the StaffY who is that?” Jake exclaimed.

“I know that is a stupid name but he is the most feared weapon in all of MA Cool Land Etc.” said PC shivering afterwards.

“Ohhhhkayyy tell me the last thing I have to do?” asked Jake.

“The last thing you have to do is figure out a way to get out of this horrid place,” exclaimed PC.

Jake decided to fall asleep an hour later. Just like the first time he leaned on one of the trees he went to sleep instantly. He dreamed about the day he wished his sister away and how surprised he was the next day when his sister was gone. He also thought about what PC said about what he had to do.

Maybe I can't save my sister. Maybe I'll fail. Maybe my stupid, idiotic jokes will stop me from doing it.

Shut up!! I can do it. Get out of my brain PC! You will never make me fail. My jokes have been the thing that kept me going in this crazy Laa Laa Land. Get out of my...

“Huh... huh... huh... why Paper Cut? WHY!?!?”

Chapter 4

The next day, while Jake was being forced to write in PC, a strange voice came out of the woods “Get out of here kid.”

“PC did you make that noise?” Jake said in a mellow voice.

“No, I did not make that noise. My voice is way more elegant and diff-” PC was cut off.

“Shut up Paper Cut. You know who I’m here for. Give up the boy or make him go back,” the strange voice said again more forceful than the first time.

“Oh com’n man! That is just crud. Why do you have to bother me again Wolfie? I already gave you everything you wanted. What else do you want me to do,” PC said angrily “Sorry, that is Wol-”

“I don’t care if you want me to leave ‘Wolfie’ because I’m on a mission to find my sister and nothing will stop me!” Jake yelled.

“Spoken like a true hero,” PC said and it started to cry a little.

“The boy didn’t speak like a true hero... he spoke like easy prey. RAHHHH!!!!!!”

Wolfie pounced at Jake with all his might (which is a lot according to Wolfie). The book instantly expanded and opened. Jake heard a big burp. Just as quick as it opened, it closed itself and shrank in his hands.

“Finally, I got rid of that smuggling freak. Oh and excuse me. Sorry I forgot my manners,” said PC with a sigh of relief.

“Di-d-did you just eat that wolf?” Jake asked stammering in fright. PC didn’t answer knowing it was an invalid question since Jake did see him eat Wolfie with his own eyes. So Jake went on through the forest hoping to find his sister.

Chapter 5

“Why is it getting so hot?!” Jake yelled.

“Because we are nearing a dang desert you dumb butt! And in this desert your sister is going to be waiting for you. She’s probably brainwashed.” PC said back angrily.

Jake responded, “What was that thing you whispered after you were done talking?”

“Nothing...” PC said in a quiet voice. “That you need to know.”

“Uhhhh alright,” Jake moaned.

The two kept going through the forest seeing less trees than when they started. Jake could see more sky than usual. He also noticed that the end of the forest was dark and not bright and sunny as he expected. Jake thought Hey if my instincts are helping me right now, the reason why it is black down at the end of the forest because something is blocking the sunlight. That something must be a building. And my sister is missing. So if I put the facts together, I would get... my sister is in that building up there no matter what! If I’m not right I will scream my head off.

“Hey... Hey... Heyyyy!!!!” PC screamed from the top of his small paper lungs.

“Wha...What!” Jake said snapping out of his thought.

“Look up dumb dumb,” PC said back rudely.

“Hey... are you floating?”

PC levitated out of Jake’s reach towards the arms of a stranger.

“No!!! There is no logic in that. I am being held by my old and now new owner Von Cracleman!” yelled PC.

“Uh so... ha ha his name is... Von Cracleman,” Jake snickered.

“Yes it is. If you are wondering how Paper Cut got to me, I swiped him while you were in thought, which I think is stupid just... like... you!” Von Cracleman chimed in.

Jake furiously said back, “That’s not true! I have always been smart and you know that! I know we have never really met each other, but something tells me you know. You’re just too scared of me to talk like a man, and not an idiot! Why don’t you fight me? Are you too nervous?!”

“D.T.S. get over here.” VC said loudly. Zippp! Jake felt a great rush of wind smack him the face like how they do it in the really cool action movies.

“This here D.T.S. short for Daffy The StaffY-” Von Cracleman said in a voice that disturbed Jake.

Jake asked rudely, “Sooo does everyone here have weird and stupid names cause in- err I mean on earth we have regular names like Sandra and Jack.”

Just when Jake said that, D.T.S. turned into a spear with sharp edges everywhere. Jake got startled instantly.

“These are normal names in Ma Cool Land Etc.” VC replied “As I was saying, D.T.S. take this Jake to the Yard. That will teach him to be nice to me and this crazy realm.”

D.T.S. took Jake to the Yard. When he got in there, brick was everywhere. After a while, big giant dark bars were in sight. It was like Jake had just closed his eyes for one second and they came up out of nowhere.

Jake thought Well this has to be the building where my sister is. I better start looking!

As Jake looked for his sister he smelled a really disgusting odor. It was like a dead skunk got mixed with oil and farts. VC came in and gave everyone meat goop. It was really sour with a dirty taste.

It kinda burned in Jake's mouth like hot sauce but not red. Jake woke up the next morning with a mission. He was going to find his sister. The last thing he thought he heard was something about brainwashing, but he wasn't sure.

"Hey, Jennifer where are you?" Jake whispered, making sure VC or D.T.S. didn't hear him.

"Over here," said Jake's sister in a different more boy-like voice.

"I'm coming. Where are you?"

"In the north corner."

Jake looked over to the north corner. He saw a teenage girl about the age of his sister. He got closer and he knew it was her.

"Oh I'm so glad that I found you. Come on, let's get out of this crazed place," Jake yelled

Jennifer replied, "Who are you? Wait a second are you... the fugitive! Von Crac-"

Jake covered Jenn's mouth and said angrily, "If you're not my sister than who are you."

"One of Von Cracleman's minions' idiot."

He thought, Well that was weird... back on earth my knife won't have a chance against metal. Wait... maybe the metal here is weaker than the metal on earth. So when the metal of the worlds meet earth metal has to win. He used his pocket knife to cut easily through the door. Thankfully, the guard was sleeping and Jake sunk past him easily. Jake found his sister again and did something he had thought he would never do. Jake bombarded Jennifer with memories of everything that they did together. He even said stuff his sister told him not to say out loud. Nothing was working! He finally told her about the fight they had and the mysterious disappearance that happened. After everything was said and done Jennifer was out cold.

“Jenn. Jenn!! Oh come on Jennifer wake up. WAKE UP!!!” yelled Jake. Nothing.

How could this happen. What did I do.....Wait a second. What if this means she un brainwashed. And my teacher says I don't think. Jake thought

Three hours later Jake heard a voice that was just like his sisters. “Wha- wha- what happened”

“Uhhhh, I really can’t explain it actually, but we got to go.”

“Jake? I ought to punch you in the face. Where are we???”

“We are in MaCool Land EtC. the most horrible place in the universe.”

“Oh.”

“We got to get out of here and I got the perfect plan,” Jake exclaimed.

“Since when do you have the perfect plan?” Jenn said very rudely.

“Shut up idiot, or your staying here!”

“Okay,” Jennifer said innocently.

The two got up and tried to find a way out. They looked everywhere. They looked in the tiny cracks in the walls. They looked high and low. Jake and Jenn even looked right next to a guard, but nothing was found.

“Nothing! Nothing at all! I don’t know how we didn’t find anything. I HATE this stupid, idiotic world!!!” yelled Jenn as she sat down.

“I kn-” something caught Jake’s eye “Hey could you get up Jenn?”

“Yeah... sure,” Jenn responded thinking it was a trick.

Jake started to feel the wall. He acted like a scientist feeling the wall with much care and not punching it like he would use to.

“What the heck happened to you? You’re like some kind of ‘Super Scientist’” Jenn said sarcastically.

“Got it!” Jake said with excitement. He picked something off the wall. It looked like a key to Jennifer but she wasn’t sure.

“This is why I asked you to get up Mrs. Negative. You should be more positive,” Jake said being funny and rude at the same time.

“Oh shut up!” Jenn yelled with offense. “You’re the reason why we are stuck in this mess.”

They started to get up and then they heard Von Cracleman. Jake thought super quickly. He grabbed his sister’s hand and ran to the end of the room right by the door.

“Why did you let the fugitive get away!!?” VC screamed at the guard near the prison.

“Huh-. Wha-. I am sooooo sorry I really didn’t mean to. Please don’t hurt me!” whimpered the guard with terror. That’s when Jake ran for his life out the opening. Just then D.T.S. noticed them and alerted VC.

“Well... GO GET THEM!!!!!!” yelled VC at the top of his lungs. Daffy the StaffY caught up to the siblings instantly.

“Go! Hide!” yelled Jake to his sister. Jake ran back into the forest. He looked everywhere for a hiding spot. Then he tripped over a rock and landed in a flower patch. Jake was about to get up when saw D.T.S.. He went right back down hoping Daffy the StaffY didn’t see him. He saw D.T.S. come nowhere near the flowers and then turned around.

That’s strange... Daffy the StaffY didn’t even get close to the flowers. That’s it. He as a fear of flowers! Now I got a plan. Jake thought.

He knew within minutes D.T.S. would back, angrier than ever. Jake put his plan into action making a shield out of flowers.

Meanwhile back at the prison, VC yelled, “You ran away! You idiot! Get back out there and take your shot!!!”

D.T.S. nodded and sped off. When Jake heard a sound he got ready for the impact. Suddenly, Jake felt an explosion with pieces of wood hitting his face. Just then, Jake's sister appeared right beside him and they were zapped away in a flash.

To Be Continued...