

Moose Wars

By Aidan
F

Moose Wars

By Aidan F.

So, basically, Stone, Blegoat, Quin Jay, Shreebo and some other people were sent to some cave. Blegoat was supposed to go with Stone, but Stone was confused because he didn't get his cereal this morning. They have to find crystals and that was all he really understood.

"Wait what?" Stone asked, as he got shoved into the cave.

"Ow..." Stone said, rubbing his horn.

"Thanks, Yoda." He grumbled sarcastically.

"Well then, we can't leave until we find some kind of crystal? Sounds like slave work, right guys?" Stone said right before he noticed everyone else had ditched him.

"Great..." He whispered to himself.

He walked in through a unique looking hall. It had a purple glow that none of the other halls had. He ended up in a maze, wandering around until he got so lost he couldn't tell what he was even doing.

"I can't believe even Blegoat ditched me... Now I'm lost, so I'm probably going to be stuck in here for... a few months," he said worriedly, as he surveyed his options.

"I could sit here and slowly starve to death, but I'd rather look for a way to get out or find my crystal."

Stone charged straight ahead and crashed into a wall, causing a boulder to fall and go towards him. He started running as fast as he could so he wouldn't die.

"EEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEK!" He screeched. (I think it's obvious how much he wants to find that crystal.)

He got out of the boulder's way and ran into Doug who is some guy who was stuck here. Stone got back up and dove out of the way just a second before the boulder went by. Doug got ran over by the boulder instead.

"Sorry!" Stone yelled sincerely.

Stone started walking around looking for his crystal.

"I hope I find the crystal before the cave freezes over," He said.

Stone started trying to find a way out of the maze.

"When I find that little chicken I will definitely shove him in a pit," Stone said angrily (talking about Blegoat.)

He found a small hallway and guessed it was the way out of the maze.

He walked into the small hallway and fell down a hole. He screamed as he fell down. The hole was luckily only five feet deep.

Stone landed on someone. "AHHHHG, SORRY!" Stone yelled. He didn't think the guy heard him.

"Wait... do I know you?" Stone asked. "Oh yeah, Shreebo!"

Stone got off and apologized again. Stone thought he saw something sparkle so he walked over Shreebo's head toward it. It was a sparkling like a majestic unicorn.

"Cool," Stone said. "Is this the crystal?" He touched it and it exploded. The blast knocked him back and caught his pants on fire. The blast also opened a hole in the ground.

"NOPE, NOPE, SO MUCH NOPE!" Stone said as he stepped back quickly. "I AM NOT DOING THIS!"

"Yoda must have set a trap or something..." Doug said.

"When did you get here?" Stone asked while he ran to safety. "Also, WHY ARE YOU SO CALM?!"

Shreebo vanished so Stone decided there was one thing to do JUMP OVER THAT HOLE!

"FOR MORNIA!" He yelled as he jumped over the pit. He barely made it. It actually took about two hours for him to work up the courage.

He walked away from the pit and felt great. And then he threw up. That was really gross. Then he saw a sparkle in the distance.

"OH HECK NO!" He said. He walked the other way, forgetting about the pit. He fell down again and that sucked.

"Well this is great," He said.

"YO C'MERE!" A voice yelled to him.

"Who are you?" Stone yelled back.

"Uhh... THE CANDY MAN!" The voice answered.

"Nice try, but really, who are you?" Stone asked.

"JUST COME HERE!" The voice said, starting to sound angrier.

Stone walked in the voice's direction, uncertain. He started seeing something shiny. Also purple.

"Oh, cool... Is this the ACTUAL crystal?" Stone asked himself, about to grab it.

"Uhh... YES," The voice said, awkwardly. "So grab it!"

"Okay," Stone said, doubting the voice's knowledge.

Stone tried grabbing the crystal but it was frozen.

"Oh no," Stone said.

He walked around a bit.

"How do I get it out?" He asked himself.

"Use the force, Luke," The voice said.

"Who's Luke? My name isn't Luke," Stone said flatly.

"Oh, well then I need to be helping some kid from a farm trying to become a Jedi!" The voice said. "So see ya never!"

"Well then," Stone said, angrily.

Stone walked around, looking for an exit.

"Wow, it's hot," Stone said. "But this planet is a frozen wastela- oh no."

Stone just noticed a fire. He went into a panic. How was there even a fire here? He thought about what the weird voice said. "Use the force?" Stone didn't understand. He tried to climb up the pit but he fell back in.

"Dang useless hooves," Stone said. "THEY NEVER DO ANYTHING HELPFUL!" Stone began to legit cry.

Suddenly, he heard a voice in the distance. It was Blegoat!

"Blegoat!" Stone yelled. "I need help!"

"What?!" Blegoat ask-yelled back. "You need kelp?"

"NO! I NEED HELP!" Stone yelled. "FIND A ROPE OR SOMETHING!"

Blegoat started looking for a rope. Meanwhile, Stone was thinking of a way out.

I'm never going to get out! Stone started thinking.

"How am I supposed to get the crystal though?" Stone said.

Stone started to ram into the ice. "OW!" He rammed in to it again. "THAT HURTS!"

He thought about the voice saying 'Use the force'. He tried to think of how to. Finally, he just focused everything on the crystal. Waiting. A few minutes went by. He waited still. About ten minutes went by now. Finally, the crystal was almost out. A few more minutes went by. The crystal was out.

"Finally!" Stone said.

In that time the fire spread almost all the way across the floor. The only spot untouched was where Stone was.

"Oh no!" Stone screamed.

"Hey! I got your rope!" Blegoat yelled down.

"Throw down one end!" Stone yelled.

"Okay!" Blegoat yelled back down.

Blegoat threw down the rope and Stone climbed back up.

"Thanks for helping me up," Stone said.

Stone shoved Blegoat into the pit and took the rope.

"That's what you get for ditching me!" Stone yelled down.

Stone ran off to the hole he fell down earlier. He got a hooked rock and tied the rope to it. He threw the rope up then climbed up. He ran through the maze and found the door. He cop slid under it.

"Euuugh, wrecked... I got," Yoda said before passing out.

"WHAT THE HECK WERE YOU THINKING, PUNCHING A MEMBER OF THE HIGH JEDI COUNCIL LIKE THAT?!" Ahsoka yelled.

"I thought it would look really cool, and it did," Stone said.

"Well what did you learn from that experience?" Yoda asked, just as he woke up.

Stone had his mouth duct taped. Stone took the tape off of his face and it took off some of his green fur. Instead Stone said, "I learned that you shouldn't worry all the time."

Shreebo said something about losing his arm and Quin Jay talked about how Blegoat went missing.

They got onto the ship again and Stone said, "Well then... What is it that we're doing now? I'm confused? I still haven't gotten my cereal!"

✌️😐 The End 😐✌️