The Unibunnies and the Crystal Caves

By Parker E.

"Your crystals you must collect," Master Yoda said.

"That should be easy as pie," retorted Bon Bon.

"This is the greatest challenge for a Jedi so don't get cocky," replied Asoka. "You must overcome your greatest challenges to get your crystals and return before the entrance freezes over."

"But I thought this was going to be easy!" said the annoyed brown unibunny.

"But they told us this on the ship," Jessica replied.

"Oh well, I must have fallen asleep but I'm not going to just wait here, I'm going in," Bon Bon said.

"Well you better wait for us," Bon Bon's albino brother, Snowstorm replied.

"Then come on, the entrance cave is right in front of us!" Bon Bon said.

"Wait up!" Sebastian said showing off his colorful fur.

"Be careful!" Asoka yelled as they ran into the cave.

"It sure is cold in here," Jessica said.

"Oh you're cold, you have the thickest coat in this group!" yelled Bon Bon.

"Like you would know, I once had to spend a week on the planet those humans call Pluto!" the black unibunny retorted.

"Ha, that's nothing compared what I had to do!" Bon Bon replied.

"Guys stop fighting or you'll blow off so much steam the cave will melt!" Snowstorm scolded. "We just need to grab our crystals and get out of here and it looks like we'll have to split up." Snowstorm added stopping in front of a fork in the path.

"We'll have to use our instincts, everybody close your eyes and point to the door you think your crystal is in," Jessica explained while she closed her own eyes. Everybody closed their eyes and pointed to a passage.

"Sebastian and I got the left one," Bon Bon stated. "You guys got the right one."

"Come on Jessica. We've got some work to do," Snowstorm said entering the cave. Snowstorm was amazed at the giant cave he had walked into. "It's amazing! And look at this ravine it must be a hundred feet down! This pillar... is random and why does it have only half a pillar at the bottom?" Snowstorm said staring at the pillar. "Oh look over there that must be a crystal... But it's on the other side of the ravine."

"I don't see anything," Jessica said heading for the nearby exit. "It must be your crystal."

"Oh well, you'll find yours soon enough," Snowstorm replied. "Good bye."

"Bye," Jessica said before Snowstorm started blabbering.

"Meep"

"What did you say?" Jessica asked

"Nothing," Snowstorm replied.

"Yeah right," Jessica said exiting the cave.

"Now how am I supposed-?"

"Meep, Meep, Meep," Something interrupted.

"What was-?"

"Meep, Meep, Meep, Meep, Meep, Meep."

It seems that every time I talk whatever that thing is interrupts
Snowstorm thought.

"Meep, Meep, Meep, Meep, Meep, Meep, Meep, Meep."

"Sounds like its coming from the ravine," Snowstorm thought trying to drown out the noise.

Rumble Rumble Rumble! The sound was making rocks fall over the exits.

"Great, just great!" Snowstorm said. "The only exit is across the ravine! If only that noise would stop so that I could concentrate but its making me mad!" Snowstorm ran around punching things. "Ow!!! My hands! Ug!"

Snowstorm decided to use his ears to help his hands feel better and by doing so he created earmuffs out of his hands.

"Wow! These earmuffs really help. Now I can concentrate on this pillar, it could work as a bridge if I get it to fall down." Snowstorm said. Then he gathered all his energy and slowly used the force to break the top of the pillar free of the roof and push the top so that it fell onto the other side of the ravine.

"Finally, I have my crystal!" Snowstorm shouted as he raced across the bridge and grabbed his crystal "Now time to get out of here!" Snowstorm raced to the exit. Then, he navigated through the hallway out into the cavern where master Yoda was waiting for him.

"The first one back you are," Yoda complemented. "Coming the others are."

"Huff, huff. Finally I'm out of that cave!" Snowstorm heard his brother yell.

"What took you all so long? I've been here for an hour," Sebastian yelled from the other side of the cave. "Oh, I thought you noticed me master Yoda."

"Help!" Said a voice from above. Everybody looked up to see Jessica fall into the pool of water next to them. "Some exit." Jessica stated. "We should put a warning sign up there!"

"Ha, Ha, Ha, Ha, Ha, Ha!" everybody laughed.

"Now let's get out of this freezing wasteland," Bon Bon insisted

"Agreed," Master Yoda said.

They all headed for the space ship when they were suddenly surrounded by snow monsters.

"Looks like we finally get to use our horns," Bon Bon said blasting one of the monsters with pure unbunny energy.

"Save some for me!" Jessica said using her energy like a sword to kill multiple monsters at once.

"You do realize that master Yoda already killed about three quarters of them?" Snowstorm implied. "And we're already in the ship."

“Wait for us!” Jessica said getting into the shuttle. “Or we’ll blast you to bits!”

“Everybody ready?” Asoka asked. “We’re going into hyperspace!”

“Ready.” All the unbunnies said.

“Okay then, we’re blasting off!” Asoka yelled pressing the hyper drive activator.
