

LARRY'S

ADVENTURE

BY VRAJ P

Lakay's Adventure

By Vraj

Chapter One

Once there was a kid named Lakay. He's an energetic guy and he loves to run around a lot. Every single day after lunch he would rush out the door and go play outside. But what he really liked to do is to go onto his computer and search up a lot of stuff. Since he got this computer when he was six years old, he has a lot of stuff in his head that makes him really smart. His brain is filled with math, English language arts, science, and history.

One day, he was on his computer looking up history. He loved knowing about history, and he searches it up almost every day. He sometimes even takes days off of school on his computer in the history section. In history, he likes searching up dinosaurs, the oldest ones he likes. One day, he plans on being paleontologist. He was on the computer when he was in awe and shock when he found something so amazing your mind will be blown. He found a page that popped up on his screen. He didn't do anything, he didn't move the mouse at all. At first he tried to "x" out of the screen but there was no "x". He stopped and he thought, weird, there is no "x" on here. Is that possible? He started to worry, he peeked out the door frame to see if his dad or mom was there, nobody was there to see this thing on his computer. So he started to ask his brain many questions, I think there's a virus in my computer, and I need to get this thing off of my screen. What will my dad or mom think when they see this on my screen? Lakay tried everything he could to get this thing off. He tried to find more ways to close the screen on the screen, tried closing and logging in, everything he tried it didn't work. He was out of his chair pacing the floor thinking and thinking until he thought something, Wait, this popped up on history, so this might be about history? So he got back in his chair and started to read the thing that popped up on his screen.

It said:

THE U.S.A. CREW HAS JUST FOUND A NEW TYPE OF DOLPHIN SPECIES! READ MORE TO FIND OUT ABOUT THIS NEW SPECIES!

Lakay was shocked, so he scrolled down to know more about this species. He hoped to know so much about this new species, but he really hopes that it's a dinosaur. But then he started thinking, When I just said that I realized that dinosaurs are extinct. When he got to the bottom (where everything is) he started to read.

This new species is called a dollfatano. This animal is a dolphin that can live in water and land. The animal will sometimes need both air and water. The crew has saw many of them and caught them. People have been getting them has pets at the pet store.

They're $10,000 for a 56 pound one and $100 for a baby one. These animals are most common in the forest where it's close to a lake.

Lakay was amazed. He lived near a forest that's a couple miles away. But he needed to get his stuff first. He needed many things first to go on this adventure. But what will he need? He started to think again, thinking and thinking, he had no idea what so ever.

So he went to the laundry room to get his clothes, his traveling clothes. On the way he bumped into his mom.

“What are you doing Lakay?” she asked. “Are you getting your clothes for the trip we are taking Friday?”

“No mom,” he said. “I’m getting my clothes because I found something on the internet that said there was a new dolphin species that can live on land and water. It says it’s in the forest. So I’m going to find it.”

“Oh,” said his mom. “Stay on the trail and be safe.”

“Ok, I will,” he said.

So he grabbed his stuff and went to the garage. That’s where he got his supplies. So he rushed from the laundry room and went to the garage. There, he found his dad working with the buzz saw and sawing some wood for his job. He works for the M.N.S Crew.

“Hey champ,” his dad said. “What are you doing here? You trying to get to the top shelf?” He laughed.

“No dad,” he said. “I’m here because I’m getting some supplies for the trip I’m taking.”

“You mean the trip we are taking Friday?” my dad asked.

“Not that trip,” Lakay said. “I found something on the internet that says there is a new species in the forest. It’s named a dollfatano.”

“Oh,” said my dad. “Well good luck kid, hope you find it.”

So Lakay was walking around to find the stuff he needs. He first needs a flashlight which was right next to his dad. So he snagged it and went on. The second thing is a backpack. He searched everywhere to find it, the back corner, the shelves, and the other rooms. He went back to the garage and then he found it. It was right next to the table. So he grabbed it and got the other stuff.

After that, he told his dad where he was going and went to the door, unlocked the door, and went outside.

He headed in the direction of the forest until some guy came out and said:

“Don’t go into the forest, it’s dangerous. Legend says that if you go in, you’ll never come out.”

Lakay got scared when the man jump-scared him. But he passed by him.

Finally, he got to the forest. He started going in and then some other guy came out. He was only a couple of inches away from Lakay.

He yelled, “Go away. This place is the wrong place for you!”

Lakay went by him and he didn’t scare him.

“Don’t say I warned you,” the guy said.

He kept walking along the path when he found an acorn. He didn’t know why it was there, but it was. He picked it up and put it in his pocket. He went along the path when suddenly he found another guy that was in full green clothes (Green pants, green shirt, green mask, green shoes, everything).

“What are you doing here?” asked the green man. “Go away. You are not supposed to be here.”

“You’re not the boss of me,” said Lakay.

“I’m the ruler of the forest and I can do whatever I want!” said the green man.

“I want to find a dollfatano,” said Lakay.

“Ohhh,” said the green man. “What if I told you it was fake. Yes, I made it up.”

Lakay was heartbroken to hear this. He spent all this time on this and it was gone.

“Then why did you put it up on the internet?” Lakay asked.

“So I can get someone in my prison and you’re the lucky one. I want to build an army to take over the world. What better way to do it than brainwash all the foolish people on the internet that will believe almost anything. Soon you will be one of my soldiers.”

The green man grasped on to Lakay and pushed him behind the tree across the bushes and over the logs to the prison. Two guards were standing in front of the humongous prison that had sixteen stories and was disguised as a giant tree.

“What is your name?” asked Lakay.

“My name is Whad,” said the green man.

Whad pushed him in front of the guards.

A guard asked, “Who are you and why are you in our territory?”

“Are you here for the made up animal that was on the internet?” asked the second guard.

“Yes I am,” said Lakay. “I am here for it”.

“Lock him up!” demanded Whad.

The guards grabbed both of Lakay’s arms. They pulled him from behind into the midst of the prison. When he got in, he saw nothing because it was super dark. One of the guards came in and turned on the lights. It was super bright at first, but it eventually became normal. The guards threw him in a prison cell that was small. It had a bucket, a spoon, a fork, and a bed. The worse part was that, there was no bathroom (dunt-dun-daa). They locked the prison cell and left.

Whad said, "Hope you have fun because you will never come out of the same way as you went it in."

Chapter Two

There were speakers all over the prison. Constant strange stories were played on them. Some of the stories were about the dollfatano and other strange creatures like mixes of a deer and a porcupine, deercupine. In between the stories it would say 'All hale Whad our ruler, he is the only one to speak the truth. We must do whatever he says'.

Lakay was all alone and didn't want to get brainwashed. Since, he had no one to talk to, he made up a person named Lakey (close to his name). He always talked to him every day and every night. Guards thought it was weird and scary because he was talking to himself.

One day, Whad came and asked, "Who do you serve?"

"I don't serve you and I am not having any fun. What do you think this face expression is for," said Lakay as he frowned.

"Aw, that's too bad because if you do not obey in the next week, it is off with your head!" Whad said in a dramatic voice.

Whad walked away like an evil ruler. Lakay was scared, he didn't want to die, and he's too young to die. He thought this punishment is too harsh for a kid his age. All he wanted to do is find an imaginary animal that he thought was real. So he used the call button in the small, rusty, and crooked room to call one of the guards.

One of the guards came and said, "What do you need? And it better be a good reason to call me."

"Oh it is good," said Lakay.

In the time he was thinking: What did I do. I just said it was good when it's not. Well I was trying to save myself from being clobbered to little atoms and then be squashed on by Whad or worst, become one of his soldiers.

"Boy speak to me! Stop daydreaming and talk to me!" the guard demanded in a big and scary voice.

I'm up and ready thought Lakay. "Huh," said Lakay. "What did you say?"

"Speak boy, speak!" yelled the guard in a super big loud voice that almost made Lakay deaf.

"Oh," said Lakay. "I'll talk to you. It's about the punishment."

"Keep talking now otherwise your death is early."

"Ok," said Lakay. "I think it's too harsh for me to die. I'm only ten and my parents would be worried about me. So, don't kill me please, I want to live and live forever."

"I'm impressed," said the guard. "No one has stood up to me, you are very brave kid."

When he said that Lakay thought, Wow, I just stood up told my feeling about the punishment and he called me brave. I think he might help me get out of this prison.

"So," said Lakay. "Would you help me?"

"Listen kid," said the guard. "I know you want to live and I want to help, but...."

"You do," said Lakay surprised that the guard wanted to help him.

"Listen," said the guard in a little grumpy voice. "I wish I could help you, but here's the thing. One time I was a young guy when Whad come up to me. He grabbed my arm and took me off to the tree shape prison where he forced me to be one of his guards. But if he catches me helping you, he will kill me too and worst off catch another person in my family and force them to be a guard."

"Wow," said Lakay. "I didn't know that. Well, I'll think I can come up with an escape plan and when I get one, I can call you. Also, does the other guard know about this and is he ok with it?"

"He's ok with this 100%," said the guard.

"Well I'll call when I get one," said Lakay.

"Ok, and one more thing," said the guard. "Can you think of one?"

"Phhh," said Lakay. "What do you think I am, five?"

"Ok," said the guard. "I'll leave you here."

The guard walked away and Lakay was thinking to himself, I have no plan what so ever and I have to think of one fast, seven days to be exact. What am I going to do?

Chapter Three

Lakay was sitting there alone, thinking about a good and sneaky plan that would get him out of the tree prison. He tried and tried but he couldn't think of one. So he pushed the button to call the guard so he can help him with his plan making.

The guard came and asked, "Did you think of a plan?"

"No," said Lakay. "But you can help me?"

“That sounds like a good idea, I have already thought of one in the break room,” said the guard.

“By the way, what’s your name?” asked Lakay.

“My name is Chade,” said the guard.

As he said that, he thought: I mean in the movies they sometimes use it but in real life Chade is a weird name.

“So what’s the plan?” asked Lakay.

The guard said, “So the plan is that the second guard and by the way, his name is Samtay. So, back to the plan. He will distract Whad while you and me go through the double doors to get out of the prison and we’re home free.”

“Wait,” said Lakay. “Doesn’t Samtay want to get out and be free from this death trap?”

“I don’t know,” said Chade.

So Lakay pushed the button with his silky hand to get Samtay.

Samtay came and asked, “Are we ready to do the plan?”

They explained the plan and Samtay agreed to help.

“Yeah,” said Chade. “Let’s do this.”

Chapter Four

Samtay was walking to Whad while Lakay and Chade watched. Whad looked behind him, Samtay quickly ducked down. Whad shrugged and kept walking. They walked and walked until they got to the break room. Whad grabbed his coffee mug and filled it up and sat down.

Samtay slowly crept up and said, “Um sir.”

Whad suddenly jump in surprise and spilled his coffee everywhere and hurried to get paper towels to dry himself.

“So um, you said a week ago that you will give me a promotion.” said Samtay.

“Fine,” said Whad. “I’ll give you a promotion. Just come with me to the basement.”

They both started walking straight to the basement. As Whad jogged in his soaked pants, Samtay shot a thumbs up at Chade and Lakay.

Chade and Lakay both tiptoed to the entrance of the humongous prison. They both thought it was easy but they didn’t know something.

Up on the ceiling was a camera that caught every single second. The camera found the two and suddenly followed Chade and Lakay’s every movement.

“This is super easy,” said Chade.

“I never thought we would do this first time,” said Lakay.

On the door there was a string that attaches to the camera. If someone besides Whad opens it, it somehow make the camera go Beepx3.

Samtay and Whad were in the basement going through the dirty and yucky hallway until Whad said, “Wait. I didn’t tell you that you got a promotion.”

Chade open the door and..... Beepx3. Whad and Samtay both heard the sound of the beep.

Whad said, “The camera.”

Samtay said, “Wait, you never told me about a camera.”

Whad pushed a button on his ear piece and said, "Activate emergency protocol eight."

Samtay and Whad both ran up the stairs. Samtay wondered, emergency protocol eight?

Chapter Five

As Samtay and Whad scurried upstairs, Lakay and Chade ran around in circles because of the camera's beeping.

"What do we do?" asked Lakay.

"I don't know," said Chade

"What? You don't know. I thought you know everything about this place," said Lakay.

"I don't know everything. What do you think I am, Albert Einstein?" asked Chade.

"Whatever," said Lakay. "We got to get out of here."

The two of them booked through the door. Whad and Samtay got up the stairs just then.

Whad yelled, "Oh no you don't!"

Whad booked across the hard concrete floor and almost got the two of them.

"Run faster!" hollered Lakay.

Lakay and Chade ran faster and faster and faster until they passed through a door and slammed it shut. They jammed a piece of wood in the handle so it wouldn't open. Then they sprinted through a couple more corridors and out the prison.

“That was a close one,” said Lakay when they were farther away from the prison.

They both started walking just like normal people until a huge army came out of the side of the prison charging at the two. There were over a hundred people wearing electronic headsets. The headsets made them look like they had troll ears. The army had black shirts that had the words internet department on them.

“Ha I finally got you two with my massive army,” exclaimed Whad.

“Come on not this again,” said Chade.

They both ran super-duper fast like Sonic.

“Charge you fools! Charge!” commanded Whad.

The army ran super-fast at light speed (not really). There was a little stone wall. Lakay and Chade saw it ahead of time and jumped over it. However the army didn’t see it and... Bam, the first row of the army tripped and they all fell down.

“That was easy,” said Chade.

“No, I was so close to catching those to knuckle heads,” groaned Whad.

“That was double close,” said Lakay

They both ran out of the forest to find themselves a big surprise. In front of them was a large lake with an island in the middle.

The army got back up and charged at Chade and Lakay.

Lakay said, “Wait, if they have those electronic headsets, then maybe they can’t swim in water.”

“Let’s swim to the island,” said Chade.

Lakay and Chade both ran to the lake and across a dock and cannonballed into the lake. They swam as fast as they could until they reached the island.

The army of internet trolls suddenly stopped at the dock, except a few couldn't stop in time. They accidentally knocked some people in front of them in the lake. The electricity shocked the people in the water.

"Where am I? Why am I swimming in a lake?" asked one of the wet internet trolls with a fried headset.

When they got to the island, they found what an island would have: coconut trees, sand (or grass), and a few other things. Lakay looked up and saw something that didn't belong, a machine buried in the sand.

"What is that?" asked Chade.

They walked to the machine and found a door. So Lakay opened it. Inside, they found some complicated machinery and computers.

"What should I press?" asked Chade.

"STOP!" ordered a scientist in a white lab coat.

It was too late. Chade already pushed a green button. Particles started forming around Lakay and Chade.

"What is going on with you?" asked Chade.

"What is going on with you?" asked Lakay.

"I don't know," said Lakay.

Suddenly, they both disappeared.

“Aaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaah,” said Chade flying in the air, “I think it’s the end of my life. Where ever Samtay is, I hope he is safe.”

“Where are we?” asked Lakay.

Lakay started to swim in the air left to right, up and down but he didn’t know where he was going.

“Man, this place is harder to get out than I thought it would be.” said Chade. Suddenly, a little light started appearing behind him.

“Where is that light coming from?” asked Lakay.

“Wow, this must be the way out,” said Chade.

They started to swim in air to that white light. As they swam and swam, the light started to get bigger and bigger.

“How big is this light?” asked Lakay.

When they got to the light, they were surprised. They could see a tan and brown house.

“It looks like my house,” said Lakay.

Back at Lakay’s house, his parents were worried.

“Where is Lakay?” asked Lakay’s mother.

Suddenly, particles started appearing in midair. Then Lakay and Chade appeared. His parents ran to hug him.

“We were so worried,” said his mother. “Where were you and who is this man with you? How did you magically appear in our living room?”

“It’s a long story,” said Lakay. “Chade follow me.”

They booked up to his room. Lakay went to his computer and started typing where the dollfatano was. He was typing and typing until he found this:

Breaking News, the dollfatano animal (which was told by a residents that it was fake) has been told to be in a humongous lake across the forest.

Lakay scrolled down to the information and started reading:

The animal has been heard to be back, but this time it doesn't live on land and water, the animal just lives in the water told by a residents. The body of water that it lives in is north of the forest, and it's in the Lake of Doom (told by a residents). Now people have been going to the lake and catching them.

"Wow," said Lakay. "This time I'm going to tell the world about the scam and Whad's plan."

Lakay typed in the comments: This story is fake. It was made up by Whad to create an army of mindless warriors.

Another person replied: You are just saying this to keep the dollfatano hidden so you can find it first. The dollfatano really exists.

A new computer window opened on its own and said: I found you! You can't hide forever. I am coming for you and your parents. I have Samtay locked up. If you care about him so much, then try to stop me- Whad.

Smoke arose from Lakay's computer as burst into flames.

"We have to save Samtay!" cried Chade.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO SAMTAY?

WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO WHAD?

WHAT WILL LAKAY DO?

WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO CHADE?

TO BE CONTINUED.....

